Global Advertising Explained

Global advertising is our best option to promote your service. Global advertising ensures your ad is visible across all content on the RaGEZONE website. We currently offer the following global advertising locations.

Section Advertising Explained

For those with a limited budget you can sponsor a singular section on our forum (or several depending on the section layout) for only a fraction of the price of global advertising. Section advertising is unique in comparison to global advertising as it includes a standard 468x60 banner plus 150 character description of the service your advertising.

Custom Advertising Explained

With custom advertising you provide us with a targeted location and size of the banner you want to promote on our website. If we have room and the location is suitable we can advertise via your specific means.

Thread Stickies Explained

Our forum has a high SEO and thus a lot of users come from Google. By sticking your thread (which means your thread will be on top of all other threads within that section) you are guaranteeing the visibility of your post to users and guests alike without having to any banners.
